

Did you know...

• Many of the low alloy steel electrode and filler metals classifications have changed over the last few years. The most common changes deal with the low carbon designation (i.e. 8018 B3L). If your company is involved with low alloy steels - P3, P4, P5A/P5B, and you are unsure of the compliance of your welding procedures to the current edition of the code, please feel welcome to call.

Structural Steel Fabricators...

• Waiting for the owner to provide nondestructive testing (NDE) on your project can be costly. This is especially true for butt splices in structures which have been erected and are no longer readily accessible. Some initial testing at your own expense at the start of the fabrication to establish reliable workmanship can save you thousands of dollars later. Please feel welcome to call if you have any questions.

Bar-B-Que - We will be having our annual Bar-B-Que at our Edmonton office Friday June 23 from 11 AM to 2:00 PM. Steaks & Refreshments. We look forward to this time to meet with our Clients, Business Associates, and Friends. Hope to see you here! Please RSVP by indicating below then fax back reply by June 19th, or e-mail your reply.

Equipment operators...

• When requesting equipment structural inspection certification, please help by ensuring the machine is in good operating order and has been carefully cleaned. This will save costs later in requiring the inspector to make a second inspection visit or in requiring the inspector to lose valuable time trying to clean before inspecting. Please feel welcome to call to discuss further.

Announcements

At QCI...

Welcome: to John Sprentz, our newest Inspector who joined QCI, April 24, 2000

Wally Bohdanowich & Walter Bonnell have successfully completed their CGSB Level II Liquid Penetrant

Mike Kereliuk - has been at QCI for 5 years as of January 3, 2000.

Birthday wishes went to: Anita Dingwall, Don Keith, Wally Bohdanowich and Jan Keith

Joke:

A wife comments to her husband that all he is interested in is Golf and that he does not even know their wedding anniversary date.

The husband replies : how could I forget the date of our wedding? It was on the day I sunk that 40 foot putt.
