A Good Time Was Had By All...

The 2001 Client & Suppliers appreciation BBQ was a great success. There were 131 people who attended. Again this year, we got numerous compliments on the quality of the steaks as well as for the overall event. A special thank-you goes to Greg Yarkie of QC Inspection for visiting and welcoming the participants at nearly every table. A special thank-you also goes to Roy Christianson for being the only attendee from Calgary and the person who traveled the farthest to attend. As for the drawing winners: The Mini-Cooler was won by Colin Brook of Alltemp Sensors and the Steering Wheel Clipboard was won by Ivan Kantolic of Cranes R Us. Congratulations to the Winners.

Be sure to set your calendar for next year; same time, same place - June 14, 2002.

Birthday Wishes to

From The President...

Since QC Inspection's change of management in 1993, we have been continually increasing our client base, staff and quality of work. Our client base covers all aspects of industry and are counted among the most talented in the world. Our staff of professionals are among the most capable and ethical in the industry. The quality of our systems and work has improved profoundly. In March 2001, we were successful in implementing our 'Strategic Target Profile' and have fully developed and deployed QC Inspection's vision for the next 5 years. We would like to thank the QCI Staff for their support in developing our Strategic Target Profile and their on-going efforts in supporting our goals and values.

Speaking Franklin

Benjamin Franklin is sometimes thought of as the father of American business, and his rules for management continue to be worth following. Franklin's ideas were about self-improvement and management in terms of modern entrepreneurship. Among the ways you can use Franklin's advice today are to acknowledge that your skills are becoming obsolete and that you must overcome such obsolescence through constant self-education. You should consider reading something educational every day and instead of watching TV at night, try playing a strategy game with your children or friends. Create a discussion group and begin getting information to your employees. Train your employees and require everyone in your company to obtain at least 40 hours of training per year.
